At MIDORI, our journey began with a simple goal: to serve beverages that do more than quench your thirst; they lift your spirit. From early morning coffee tastings to late-night tea trials, our team has spent months fine-tuning every recipe, adjusting every ingredient, and chasing the perfect balance of flavour and freshness. Each mocktail, every cup of tea or coffee you enjoy here is the result of countless experiments and an unwavering commitment to purity, taste, and experience. THE ART OF COLD INFUSION

Cold infusion brews date back to 17th-century Japan, where monks refined the art of slow-dripping cold water through coffee, an idea brought by Dutch sailors preserving brews at sea. Rooted in these age-old practices, cold infusion slowly brews herbs, fruits, and botanicals in cold water for hours. This method preserves delicate aromas, antioxidants, and natural clarity, resulting in a drink that's smooth, refreshing, and easy on the body.

This cold-crafted drink from Midori is made for a sip that's light, clean, and quietly nourishing.

A TRADITION REVIVED FOR WELLNESS

Long ago, hands pressed fruits gently, drawing out pure, healing juice. At Midori, we've revived this ancient craft with cold-pressed juicing, no heat, no haste, just nature at its best. While regular machines rush and heat, stripping away nutrients and flavour, our slow, hydraulic press keeps everything intact, enzymes, freshness, and vibrant taste.

Pressed fresh daily, our juices deliver raw, nutrient-rich goodness in every sip!
